MUSEUM OF WESTERN ART GEARS UP FOR FAMILY FREE DAY

The Museum of Western Art will celebrate National Day of the Cowboy on Family Free Day on Saturday, July 29, 2017.

Youngsters, parents and grandparents are encouraged to attend the event, which is free for all Kerr County families. Children can participate in making crafts, and refreshments will be served.

Stephanie Turnham, Executive Director, said, "We hope to see lots of families out on Saturday to celebrate our National western heritage. Visitors can walk through the galleries and view masterpieces in canvas and in bronze that illustrate cowboy characteristics of bravery and courage, love for the land and animals, and tolerance and respect for others. The art in the museum reinforces what children are taught in school and at church."
